EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE SPATIALI.

Madreon, March 10, 52. As the journal shows, the use of the Senate and Assembly Chambers has been granted to the citizens of Madison for a Legislative Fertival on Wednesday afternoon and evening next. All their beauty and their chivalry will be gathered here on that occasion, and that admirably contrived plan of removing the Capitol, I fear, must fail. Sad, isn't it? But such is oft the tale of the best contrived schemes "of mice and mon."

The Annual Statement of the Merchants' Mu tual Insurance Company of Milwaukee, was read this morning. It shows very favorably for the good management of the Company.

Dr. Peak presented a petition from sundry constituents of his, asking for a law submitting the question of equal suffrage to colored persons, to the people. Mr. Strong moved to lay it on the table. Dr. Peak opposed this as an uncalled for interference with the right of petition. The Speaker also suggested to the Hon-e, the same iden. Only two or three voted age, and the petition was referred to the committee on Privilege-

Mr. Lowis, for himself and Mr. Patch, as the minority of the Judiciary Committee, pre-ented a long and able report this morning, disenting from the opinions expressed by the majority. (Messrs, Barber, Botkin and Worthington) 1clatire to bill No. 120, and the Improvement gencrally. Although I do not see that it in any manner controvers the positions of the majority, it does show, conclusively, how differently able men may look at the same question. The positions taken by the minerity, me briefly these :-They disagree with the majority as to the object of the restiriction in the grant by Congress, and insist that it was only to prevent the accumulation of too much money in the hands of the State —that the sales have been conducted in precise accordance with the terms of the grant-that the idea that the State cannot charge tolls upon avemes of water communication which have been improved by it, is absurd, even though those waters be navigable streams before such improvement (I do not understand them to say, as did the special F. & W. R. I. Committee, that the-c rivers were not navigable streams) ----- and that numerous instances exist in other States of the exercise of this right to take tolls. They also insist on the power to pledge the work.— They estimate the whole cost of the work of the improvement, when complete, at $386,000and that if the price of the balance of the lands be raised to $2,50, except in the enses provider the fund raised would be more than sufficient to complete the work and leave many thousands of dollars over, besides 50,000 acres of lands, supposed to be unsalcable. Beyond this, the report goes on to draw a glowing picture of the amount of the busine s to be done on the line of the work, and the revenue to accrue to the State therefrom. It objects to a stoppage of the work, as that would make the State liable to the the delay or temporary cessation of it, as that would entail min on the half finished structures. In conclusion, the report expresses the opinion that the issue of scrip is the best method of car rying on the work, and that the hand is ample for its redemption.

I have dwelt somewhat at length on the feat nres of this Minority Report, inasmuch as it will be some time before it can be printed, and I am anxious that our readers should see the different opinions that me entertained with reference to this vexed matter. For myself, I do not believe that the lands can, by any possibility, realize seem to be the part of wisdom to make an effort for a releast from the restrictions of the original grant, and to obtain another, in addition, as soon as possible. (By the by—how can it be that the minority claim $20,000 as the value of the water power at the Kaukalin, when it is well undertood that Mr. Martin claims it as his own, and, I am credibly informed, has disposed of half o it already?

And another thing; how can any one estimate the contract of Mr. Martin, when the Chief Engincer has unlimited power to estimate and enlarge as he pleases and the Board exercises the same power? With a contract which gives Mr. Martin 15 cents prouble foot for pine timber, 12 We per lb for east iron, mails and spikes, 15c pr th for wrought iron, de, de, in the same proporpanion-it would seem that any estimate now on the sum total must be wild enough.) Messas Catton and Earnest, minority of the -pecial committee on the Liquor Law petitions. abmitted their report this morning. There can estainly be no need of making an abstract of it, as its tenor will readily occur to any one who is funiliar, and who is not ?-with the discussions upon this subject. They hold that the state has no right to interfere—that it would cuitail inalienable rights-that moral snasion ought to be usedthat the Maine law would require a standing army to enforce it-that the harmony of the people of the polls ought not to distinbed by submitting the question, de., de., -- and conclude by recommending a reduction of the license free to $10 to

The petitions thus far in Senate on the lieuor question are as follows: for the Maine Law 3,223 rgainst ditto 3,536, and 656 names tor the repeal of the present law, to be replaced by a milder one or to have none at all. Most of the anti-Maine law remonstrances have been presented by Dr. Huebschman, of our city, and have come from Milwaukee and Washington counties.

" The Bank Law, after passing the ordeal of the Committee or the whe'r, come up in the House this afternoon. There were several nameces ory calls of ayes and noes, and various merions to make different alterations from those of the committee. One of them, by Mr. McKee, to prevent the issue of bills under $5,00, was killed, or come; but the ayes and nocs showed that Messis Gra-Lam, Maxon, Montoe, Peak and Ricker favored the exploded humbug.

The House worked through six sections without material alteration, the 6th being fought at every step with propositions to accept real estate mortgages, and railroad bonds as scentities,-Those who are laboring for the latter project are pretty strong and may possibly succeed in some orm, since they have the officient personal aidand sincere good wishes of that eminent friend of a banking system-Moses M. Strong. If it passes is will be very strictly guarded, but I doubt the success of the movement. Twice it was voted down, the first time by 22 to 38, the second time by 19 to 40; and then notice was given that it would be renewed. Mr. Hoyt is the most pertinacious advocate of the measure. Mr. Worthingon made one of his brief, well considered speeche in opposition. He solder speaks, but always occupies the close attention of the House when he takes the floor. You will notice that the Danserat here is much. exercised about our 1st Ward representative, Mr. Cain. That gentleman seems to think that he can stand the abuse of our Madison arbiter elegantieran, but promises to resign at once if he shall find any decent treatment, or compliment in its ผมในการ

A Self-Convicted "Gougers"

The Wisconsin of Saturday, afflicted with a fresh access of bile, seeks to relieve its oppressed feelings by a characteristic attack upon that thorn Mossis Editors .-in its flesh, the Scatinet. Our civil-spoken, pleasant-tempered and magnammous neighbor charges the Seedinal with "gonging" the City out of $12-0 during the past year; the proof being that the Sentencl was pand that amount to certain work which it had offered to do for nothing. The charge, of course, is utterly false; the Hisconsis never losing an opportunity to lie about the Sen-tunel. The fact is briefly this. The last Common ouncil invited proposals for doing certain specied work; to wit, publishing the notices, ordi ances and resolutions of the Board. This work the Scalinel offered to do for nothing. The Board took no action upon the offer, but appointed the Scaling the "official paper" of the City. Wherepon, in rendering our account for such publications, we charged the same rates which had al-ways been puid for similar work, deducting 25 per cent. The bill thus made out, announting to $166, was audited and allowed by the Board without a dissenting vote. The remainder of the account, Lining, including materials, 50 cents: pud-referred to by the Historia, but falsified as usual, dling 37½ cents; dry wall $1,50; dope wall referred to by the Historia-in, but falsified as usual, dung 37½ center; dry wall $1,50; slope wan.

was for advertising the Tax Sale, printing and pub. $1,50; hydraulic masonry $5,00, the above per i plican g Thompson as an accessary.

White Obj. White Obj. timber 30, center are the testimory being all in, Mr. A. D. Swith lishing the Charter and other work, not included in out offer. So much for the fabrication, And now "to hoist?" the Blisconsin "with its own petard." a points the charge against the Sentinel thus:

This hind of gonging is dishonorable to the pro-fession, and we trust that no other journal in the State would, under lake pretence slitus gonge the People's treasury. Our proposition was made in good faith, as veryoftu where to over und in every relation of life. Would any one believe that the "sainted Peck miff," who thus beasts of his 'good faith." had been guilty of the very crime which he falsely charges upon us? Yes, this model man is, by his and admission, a deliberate "gouger" under false pretences," of the " People's Treasu ry." When the proposals were opened last wear there was one from the Wisconsin Office, offering to do the work at 25 per cent. less than the usual rates. This offer, like that made by the Scutinels was not acted upon by the Board. Neverthelesscording to PLERSHEF, it was binding upon him. Of course you will say, the bills from the Wisconsin Office against the City, during the past year, were made out in accordance with its offer. Not exactly! Pleasons, with all his exuberant morality and "rigid adherence to his word," has a sharp eye for the dollars and cents. So he pecketed hi offer and charged the city full price for work which he had proposed to do at 25 per cent less; walking into "the People's treasury" to the tune of $250 : He stands thus condemned out of his own mouth -convicted, upon his own confession, of violating his word, dishonoring the profession and "goug-ing" the City. We leave the unhappy criminal in the pillory of his own erection. As to the offer of the Sentinel, last year and this, we have only to say that it was made in perfeetly good faith, and that we stand ready to give onds for its faithful and literal fulfilment. And there we leave the matter, with content whatever disposition the Council shall see fit to make of it

Concert of the Musical Spelety. The eighteenth concert given for the Members The eighteenth concert given for the Members of the Milwaukee Musical Society, took place on Fiday evening, and was numerously attended, despite the muddy walking and the wef weather, which rendered it an extremely hazardous undertaking for pedestrians to attempt the crossing.—
The Chorusees were exceedingly well sung, they we have heard them more effective at some of their provious concerts, when there was a fuller attendance of the performances, which sounded rather thanks and performances, which sounded rather this and weak, as compared with former occasions. Mr. WAMELINE, accompanied upon the Piane Forte, with excellent time and taste, and we bespeak for him the favorable regard of our breth ron of the press, wherever his tom with Mrs. Top very may lead him. Mr. Kin Len sings with expression and feeling, and in good taste--possesses a fine person and pleasing address, and we predict that his appearance and performances in a concert 100m, will be hailed with delight by his auditors. We are gratified in being able to amounce, the authority of the worthy President, that the Society was never in a more flourishing condition; that the five or six instruments and performers now missing, will be fully replaced in few weeks, and that by that time, the Society will have recovered, even more fully than could have been expected, from the disastrous consequences of the late fire.

The contributions taken up among our citizens a aid of the Society, and with a view of replacing, s far as could be done, the very valuable instruments and the choice music destroyed by the fire n Young's Block, amounted to the handsome rm of $750. Of this amount, $300 was paid to Dr. Fresen, who lost three costly violine, (two of them borrowed for the Society.) by that entastrophe. The remainder, after deducting expenses of Concert and appropriations to pay one or two other losses, went into the treasury of the Society, and will re-imburse within about $100, the noney value of the music and instruments which the flames consumed.

The Cox and Wisconsin Improvement. The Martin Contract.

- Madison, Match 10, 1852 As there is a good deal now said about the the Pox River Improvement, I wish to give you a brief history of the same from the commence—ment. In the first place, on the 21st of January 1852, Mr. Marry made the following offer to the Sovernor, which offer the Governor laid before the Legislature:

I hereby propose to contract with the State of or before the 1st day of May 1853; the same o be accepted as fast as completed. The work to e paid for from the sales of the lands, granted (and to be granted) in aid of the Improvement, =0 far as the funds can be taised from that source.-The amount due for the whole confinct when completed and remaining unpaid to constitute debt against the Improvement, the interest of which, at 12 per cent, shall be paid from tolls to be collected on the work, and whenever the State shall realize funds, either from the sale of lands, orany other source, and pay the balance due on the contract, the debt to be discharged.

Should the Legislature authorize the acceptance of this proposition I will enter into bonds sausactory to the Governor, for the fulfilment of the M. L. MARTIN. January 31, 1851. Hereupon the Legislature passed the following act.

Sec. 1. The Governor is hereby authorized to accept the proposition made to him on the 31st of January 1851, by the Hon. L. M. Marris, for the completion of the Improvement of Fox River, between Green Bay and Lake Winebago, and to enter into contract with the said M. L. Martin, according to the terms and conditions thereof—Provided, the said M. L. Martin shall give security satisfactory to the Governor to complete said work on or before 1st day June 1853.

Sec. 2. The said work shall be paid for upon monthly estimates, made by the State Superintendent, or the Engineer, in the same manner as the work under previous contracts has been estimated and paid for, if there shall be funds in the hands of the Treasurer applicable to that object, and in

of the Tiensurer applicable to that object, and in case there shall be a deficiency of funds to passaid estimates, the Board of Public Wolfs shall give to said Contractor, serip, semediby the President of said Board and attested by their Clerk,

Now I do not know what kind of a contract Gov. Dewly made with M. L. Martin, not do I proposal and specifying the kind of certificates the contractor was to receive in payment of balances forred to a Committee of which Mr. Coxers (a partner of Martin's) was chairman and they reported the bill, which agreed to pay 12 per cent nterest; arguing that Mr. Marris, was a man of means and would trust the Improvement; that it would be difficult to raise money, on that kind of security, from persons unacquainted with the work, without paying extra for it; and that by making this arrangement with him, the State would have no further trouble in finishing up the whole Improvement. Mr. MARTIN was to wait for his pay until the Improvement paid it, and it was for this reason that the contract was given to him without even inviting competition. Do you, or does any man suppose, if the State Legislature intended to endorse those serin certificates, or be held in any way accountable for them, that Mr. Makrin could have obtained such a contract without even the show of competition? I know that he could not. The prices fixed for the different materials and the rate of interest allowed show that his was a time bid. Now what is the object or effect of the Governor's signing these certificates, except to show, or imply, a State liability? By what law is the Governor authorized to sign them at all 'I know of rone nor can any be found in the Statutes. If the State desires to engage in the business f Internal Improvements, and the People are villing to amend the Constitution accordingly, 1 certainly shall not object, but will excerfully go in for making the Found Wisconsin Rivers Improvement a State Work. But I do object to the State's assuming, directly or indirectly, any 1esponsibility which is not legal and Constitutional, without knowing how it was done. I understand that Mr. Mantin claims that the State is liable to him for his contract. If so, it is high time the matter were looked into, for the People have generally believed themselves safe on account of the prohibitory clause in the Constitution. If Mr. MARTIN's doctrine is correct, there is already :

Now to the case. It is purely a case of circumstantial evidence. There is no theset proof of the actual commission of the offence. It is for that reason a case which demands your most careful scrutiny. You have got to peruse the mass of evidence before you, and to six it, and then you have got to apply the tules of law to what is left; your duty is a difficult one.

I propose, as a proper introduction to the facts of this case, to call your attention to the facts of law with regard to circumstantial evidence, with the view of showing what they must establish, and having done this, I will consider the testimony.—The case has been presented so fully to you by my associate, that I feel relieved from the necessity of going through all the details of the mass of evidence in the case. This last case speaks for itself; it seemed conclusive. And yet, the accused was tried, convicted and executed for the murder of a man who 5 years after was alive and well. My only object in reading these cases is to show the uncertain nature of circumstantial evidence, and how cantious you should be in receiving it as conclusive proof of guilt. I now propose to state historically the main teatmony of the case. The murder was committed on the 4th of May last, in the 5th ward of this city, at about 10 o'clock at night. It is a material fact in this case to find the exact time of the nurder. The German boy Maurer, states that on that night at the place where the body was found, he saw at a distance 2 men fighting, he heard blows, he became alarmed and went his way. I have no doubt that conflict was this murder, and I contend this must have been as late as 10 o'clock—the precise time we cannot arrive at—there was no witness to the deed, and of course not to the time, and we have to collect it from the circums ances that surcounded it. He said it must have been between 2 and 10 o'clock.

to talk of mutual triends in Cincinnati, from that time forward an acquaintance grows up rapidly to between them—they were together mote or less during that time up to the 4th of May. There is nothing a tyrising in this acquaintance and in the fact that it was mutually cultivated. There is nothing to warrant the assettion that it was a telectant one—the proof is all to the contrary—they were intimate friends, they were both the same in countrymen—they were both out of employment —both idle—of similar temperaments and associations—strong sympathies—associated with same pe~ons. And it is not to be wondered at that the acquaintance became intimate as it did. There were 25 witnesses produced to show where those 2 parties were seen together. The intimacy increased —it attracted no suspicion (with the exception of Catherine Hauson) not oven in the mind of Ross hunself, or of his associates. Butshe suspected him because Ross had money, and Radeliffe was in want of money, and she said that sho would have suspected any one else under similar circumstances. This is the only exception as to suspicion of the intimacy between Defendant and Ross.

Now I come to the day of the muder; Ross was at home on Sunday fill day (except before breakfast) up to 3 o'clock, fixing up his boves and preparing to leave for Cincinnati next morning, At 3 o'clock he went out, saying ho was going to the city which have been detailed to you, they parted about 5 o'clock and Ross went to the Post office—he was met by David Kimman and after they had gone though various parts of the defendant on that day—He got up in the morning, and he and Thompson dressed the chicken of the parter of the contradiction in the o'clock—he called to you, they parted about 5 o'clock, he meets him opposite the Mississippi House; that was the first time o'clock—he called the went of the contradiction in the o'clock—he called the search provides—he returned home, and dined about 3 o'clock—after dinner he left home again and came down town hone, or considerable contradictio of those parties, up to the time when they left the house of defendant at 8 o'clock—there is nothing which shows a criminal motion or intent—and yet at 10 o'clock that night when the defendant is at home and in bed as we contend—Ross is found mundered and the guilt is charged to the Defendant. The munder must have occurred after 8 o'clock and at a point of time very distant from that when they were last seen together—except according to the testimony of Mrs. Smith and Farman. I now lay that testimony out of view, I shall consider that bye and bye. Now these are the facts and it is contended that the circumstances surnounding the defendant fasten the guilt on him beyond a reasonable doubt—Now I may say with sulety that up to 8 o'clock that night there is nothing that fastens on him any guilt. He had not acted as a guilty man; he got up as usual, he blackfasted as usual, he played with his children as usual, he dressed himself as usual, he walked down town as usual, we went home to dinner as usual—nothing in his conduct to create saspicion; doing no unusual act—oven joking with Miss Culver in reference to Ross—saying he was going away next morning and that he had the Yellow boys—a remark he would not make if he intended taking his life that night for the sake of those yellow boys.

[Here the courtadjourned the case until 8 o'- rom and after this day.

[Here the court adjourned the case until 8 o'lock next morning, in consequence of Mr. Atnold's health preventing him from proceeding forther that night:]

Wednesday Morning.

Wednesday Morning.

Mr. Arnold resumed thus:
Gentlemen, there is a limit to physical effort, and if this were a case involving dollars and cents, I should not be here at all. But in a case involving human life, I feel under the obligation to make some effort to save the life of the defendant—under the appreciation of its menits—I do not want to make a fabricated defence—I know it would be futile with such a jury. But a result should not be arrived at, which is not warranted by the facts of the case. I claim candor and sincerity in the views which I urge—I do not his conduct is not suspicious; but I say and succeedy in the viows which I tage—I do not say his conduct is not suspicious; but I say however strong those suspicious may be, I believe as a lawyer that there is not evidence in this case to corrict the defendant. Unless circumstances point unerringly to the defendant as the guilty man you are bound to acquit.

[Counsel here referred to the case of the Rev. K. Avery indicted for murder on circumstantial evidence, and proceeded:]

idence, and proceeded:]

There could not be a stronger case than that; the corpus delicit was clearly shown and proved—no one had a doubt, and after I weeks the counce! for the defence made an argument of I hom in length, only. He took up the position that the circumstances did not preclude the possibility of all doubt, and the defendant was acquitted. Gendema, hear that case in mind. The defence in this case, is not that the corpus delicit has not been proved. But that the proceedin have not shown facts to connect the defendant with the corpus delicit. In the case of Professor Webster, the convection was proved—the corpus delicit was not. It was doubted whether Parkman was dead. There are not facts enough in this case to connect not. It was doubted whether Parkman was dead. There are not facts enough in this case to connect the defendant with the corpus delicit—that's the point. To the day of Sunday there was nothing of that kind, and the man who designed to kill, would not have pursued the conduct of the defendant all through. When was the design to kill formed?—as far back as the making of the instrument? his conduct in the meantine, was toally inconsistent with such an idea. Do you think if he had formed such an idea that he would go all amound town proclaiming that intention by his acts.

he had formed such an idea that be would go all around town proclaiming that intention by his acts.

The note given at the dissolution of the partineship by Wigler was paid on 2d May, on Friday. He received $180 from Mrs. Reeves; on Friday the 2nd of May he had all his money—the whole of it. On Friday, Ross called on the defendant and invited him to go into the country with him; they went and returned in the dark, after 10 o'clock, and Ross spent that night at Ratchiffs. The presumption is, that Ross had his money with him then. Now, if the defendant contemplated his murder, what better opportunity would be lawe, than when they were alone in the woods togethet—where the body might have been secreted and no mark of guilt left behind. If he premeditated the murder, he would not have been talking about the money in Kellogg's Saloon; he would not have joked Miss Culver on Sunday, about Ross and say he had the "yellow boys?"—
The defendant is not a fool, and unless he was, his conduct is inconsistent with the idea that he had formed a premeditated design to murder Ross. He would work in the dark, and in secret, and watch his epportunity. If the act wate premeditated, would he have gone to Sogg' shop to bespeak that instrument, when he could have made it himself as well; this conduct is inconsistent with the idea of premeditation. They might as well show that 10 days before he went into Nazro's store to purchase a rivitting hammer because it has been proved that the wounds might have been inflicted by it; and a gentleman has informed me that he has often seen such instruments as thus used at the ond of a punching machive. That gentleman has gone to Chicago. It ments as the used at the ond of a punching a chire. That gentleman has gone to Chicago. might be an unusual instrument to you, but might be an unusual instrument to you, but not to a mechanic.

Now I come to consider the circumstances connecting the defendent with the corpus delicti.

1st. I must consider the ion, and Mr. Butle told you that the ordering of the iron, and his possession of it, in connection with the character of the wounds, was satisfactory evidence of his guilt.

If this be so, then I greatly mistake the application of the law, it is not for the prosecution to say, these wounds accounted applyon—it may have a tion of the law. It is not for the prosecution to say, these wounds occurred anyhow—it may have been caused by this or that instrument. They cannot do that, they must put their hypothesis to you, and show you the facts from which they draw it—I hold them to this. Suppose the wounds to correspond with this instrument. But pose defendant ordered the instrument. But these two facts show that deft, over had it in his processing 2. All presents to add the manufacture. also, that the moon had just gone down; if set that might at 10]? o'clock. The moon had my sunk so low it being a cloudy night, he may not have observed, it. Mr. Parsonsead these probably about 10 o'clock. He was not present so soon as Reeves, and yet he tells you about 10 o'clock—I say so too—mine is an expression of opinion; so was his. Mr. Warren fixes the hour at about 10 o'clock—I say so that defendant had that instrument in his possession? Who proves it? Then there is nothing which positively fixes the hour. You must arrive at it from those circumstances—It is a most material fact, and the whole testimony precludes the idea that it was before 10 o'clock. Now that we have fived the time of the murdet, and the fact that it was committed—then arises the question by whom was it committed? And in this connection, I propose to present to you the history of Ross and Radcliffe from the begining to the day of the murder. The first knowledge which you have of any acquaintance was 20 or 30 days before the murder, and their first ecquaintance is proved by the testimony of Dwyar who saw them at Webb's saloon. Ross having gone there with an iron ferule, quite competent to produce in company with him and Radeliffe; having began to talk of mutual triends in Cincinnati, from that time forward an acquaintance grows up rapidly between them—they were together moto or less that time up to the 4th of May. There is nothing surprising in this acquaintance and in the fact that it, was nutually existence. would then have been their theory? It would have been that Radcliffe was a blacksmith, and that he took a riveting hammer and killed him with it. And now they charge that that was the instrument because he ordered such a one. Againanter in the circumstance relied on by the Prosecution in connecting the Defendant with the corpus delicit, is the tracks or foot prints in connection with the boots of the Defendant. This is slight evidence indeed in a city of 20,000 inhabitants where the number of those boots is the most common size worn—there must have been 1000 pair of the same number in use in this city at that time. Is it not going a great way for the Prosecution to ask you then to say that out of the 1000 pair then in use in the city, it was his boots that caused the tracks? There is no evidence to show that those tracks were made that night across the marsh—they might larve been made the following monning—this is unsafe testimony, and is much too nice to be relied on, in a charge of murder. They may not have been made by the person who committed the murder. The Prosecution have not proved that sany of the witnesses' crossed the marsh that night. Are you ready to grant this assumption? I trust not. Again those tracks have the appearance of a person running from the murder, and therefore, they say, are the tracks of the murderer. Suppose they were—do they furnish the slightest degree of cridence against the defendant of inches in going through the marsh. The ant? Take those boots and allow him to have used them on that evening and to run as described, and to sink 6 inches in going through the marsh. The murderer that night when running, sunk deep in the morning of the 5th of May? They could have born the appearance which those boots did on the morning of the 5th of May? They could not have been washed. Mr. White thinks they were more muddled than they are now. If those boots went through that marsh then there was black mud on them—and nothing else. The boots must have seen covered with dark black mud—every other as tep was on dry ground made up of light clay—yet they had the appearance of light colored white mud. Now explain that if you can? Will you fell me what became of the 6 inches of black mud?

What is the appearance they have now? They Will the Gentlemen on the other side tell me?—What is the appearance they have now? They appear as if worn by a man who traveled around the city and then took them off, and not as if, he had been 6 inches deep in the dark black mud of the marsh. Again a spot is detected on the bottom of the boot by one of the officers—he saw a nigger in the fence at once. All the officers saw a vidence of guilt in every direction. Everything they saw presented some evidence of his guilt—this is only human nature.

It is carracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming an Artificial Digestive Fluid, precisely like the natural Gastic Jules in its Chemical powers, and farmithing a complete and perfect substitute for it. By the aid of this preparation the pains and wile of Indigestion and Dyspeptia Consumption, supposed to be on the verge of the grave. The Scientific Erichence upon which it is based, is in the highest degree Curious and Remarkable.

SCIENTIFIFIC EVIDENCE.

Baron Liebig in his celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says: "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous rothe Gastric Julee, may be readily prepared from the mucous membrane of the strunch of the Cali, in which various articles of food, as meat and eggs, will be softened, changed, and digested, just in the same manner as they would be in the human stamach:

Dr. Forch, in his Amous treaties on "Food and Dict," published by Powler & Walls. New York; page 35, trates the same great finet, and describes the method of preparation. Them are few higher authorities than Dr. Porch, in his called writings on the "Physiology of the grave and produce and dict," published by Powler & Walls. New York; page 35, trates the same gr preparation. There are few higher authorities than Dr. Pereira.

Dr. Combo, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observe that "a diminution of the due quantly of the Garrier Judies is a prominent and all prevailing cause of Dyspepsia," and he states that "a distinguished professor of medicine in London, who was swered a affacted with this complaint, finding everything else to hit, har resource to the Gastrie Julie, obtained from the atomacha of diving animals, which proved completely successful.

Dr. Gauliam, author of the famous works on "Vegetable Diley" says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, but the stomacha of animals, maconned in water, impart to the fluid the property of discoling actions articles of food, and of effecting a kind of satisfied direction of them in no wise different from the natural digestive process."

Professor Dunglison of the Jefferson College, Philadelphis, in his great work on Human Physiology, devotes more than fully pages to an examination of the subject—His experiments with Dr. Beaumont, on the Gastric Juliee, obtanged from the living human stomach and from animals, are well known. "In all cases," he says, "digestion cocurred as perfectly in the articles as in the natural digestion."

Dr. John W. Druper, Professor of Chemistry, in the
